introducing you
to our world

values with you in mind

Our core value is utmost respect for the child – following in the footsteps of Maria Montessori, we treat children as equals and respect their freedom of choice, their capability of doing things for themselves and to learn by themselves. Each WoodJoy product is handmade and designed not to obstruct the children's concentration, letting them learn by playing and use the same things grown-ups do, tailored to their needs.

Children have an absorbent mind and are ready to learn everything, so WoodJoy products offer the opportunity to learn without distraction and they are the building blocks of a prepared environment that is crucial to let children do things for themselves.

Using smooth, safe, and diverse materials, our products promote freedom for children to explore different objects, roles, materials, and experiences.

Self-care is any activity that will help a child become independent in taking care of their bodies: the Montessori method and WoodJoy products teach self-care through learning stations where kids brush their hair, button their clothes or wash their own hands.

i GOOD TO KNOW

Clothes in a WoodJoy wardrobe are usually limited, so just a couple of pairs of shoes, a coat and one to three shirts. As your child gains confidence with making clothing choices and getting dressed independently, you can add more choices.

Giving a child the opportunity to understand and engage in the process of preparing a meal is an important Montessori practice. Cooking with real food allows a child to understand where food comes from, and how to use it.

i GOOD TO KNOW

Letting children play allows them to develop their grasp strength and coordination and ensures that they'll have the skills they need to be successful with any activities in school and beyond.

furniture that grows and changes
with you

Although Woodjoy is steeped in Montessori, what makes Woodjoy products stand out of the crowd is that they can adapt and transform continuously and even be used by parents too. WoodJoy products go against the trend of throwing out and changing every object in our household: our furniture grows with children and accommodates their needs through a lifetime.

Every detail of our products matters: besides designing safe and useful furniture, we also use strictly water-based paint that is VOC-free and child safe. We never use chipboards or MDF, as these can contain formaldehyde, a highly toxic material that can irritate lungs and eyes and the manufacturing process of these materials produces immense amounts of dust that is extremely harmful to breathing.
